CATALOG COURSE DESCRIPTION:

(Prerequisite, SL 100.) This course is designed to present theory, research methods, process of program planning, promotion, organizing, implementation, and evaluation as applicable to a variety of programs. Several types of programming which serve different age groups, interests, and needs will be discussed. The scope of leadership for both professionals and volunteers will be presented in terms of their relationship to programming and promotion. The development of critical thinking toward the implementation of sport and recreation programming will be introduced.

TECHINICAL REQUIREMENTS:

- COMPUTER: Students will need access to a laptop/desktop computer with reliable internet connection to complete the work assigned in this course.
- INTERNET: Students will need a reliable internet connection. Reliable internet will be necessary to access email and Canvas on a daily basis. Students will also need to download resources, upload assignment files, watch videos, and more.
- BROWSER AND RELATED PLUGINS: Students will need an up-to-date internet browser and related plugins. Firefox, Internet Explorer, Safari, or Google Chrome are all options. Java, Adobe Flash Player, Adobe Reader, and Apple QuickTime all must be up to date.
- SOFTWARE: Students must have access to Microsoft Word.
- TECHNICAL SUPPORT: If students need help with software or technical support, they should visit the Computer and IT Help Website: <https://www.emporia.edu/student-life/it-support/> or call (620) 341-5555 to schedule an appointment. For questions with ESU Canvas, visit <https://canvas.emporia.edu/> or call Canvas Support at (877) 341-5555.

INSTRUCTOR CONTACT

My preferred method of contact is email (cturner2@emporia.edu). Also feel free to stop by my office during office hours to see me in person. Please do not contact me via Canvas unless otherwise directed so for a specific assignment.

Professionalism is required in all email correspondence. You must include an informative subject line, address the recipient appropriately (for me, it is “Mr.”) state your name and the course you’re emailing about, and clearly explain the reason for your email. This saves everyone time in the long run and gets you in the habit of conducting yourself in a professional manner! If this formatting is not followed, I will ask you to rewrite the email before I give you a response. Emails sent after 3pm may not receive a response until the following weekday. I do not answer emails on weekends.

COURSE OUTLINE/EXPECTATIONS:

Attendance Policy

Students are expected to attend all regularly scheduled classes and other class related activities. Attendance will be taken every day. Being on time is also important to both your education as well as your future professional life. If a student is late, it will be marked down as such, unless prior knowledge from the student to professor is notified. There will not attendance points in the class.

Any student absent on days of assigned exams or project assignments will receive a grade of “F” or zero (0) for that day’s assignment. At the discretion of the course instructor, an absence may be excused in which case a make-up exam will be allowed. However, such cases are very rare and must involve extenuating circumstances.

Contributions in Class:

Students will be expected to contribute regularly in class. Contributions to class will be measured not only vocally but through other means such as bringing a question to class when assigned, adequately completing in-class presentations, and actively participating in small group conversations and activities.

Papers / Reports

All papers are due by the beginning of class time on the date indicated in the course calendar or as otherwise indicated by the instructor.

NO LATE ASSIGNMENTS WILL BE ACCEPTED by the instructor. Documented medical/family emergency situations will be taken into consideration.

1. All written assignments must be typed and double spaced using a clearly readable 12-point font and stapled, or submitted electronically on canvas. HANDWRITTEN ASSIGNMENTS WILL BE GRADED AS A ZERO.
2. Assignments should be written in a concise and grammatically correct manner. Points will be deducted for poor or incorrect sentence structure, format, spelling, grammar, and word usage.
3. Plagiarized work will receive zero credit and may result in the student being dropped from the class and/or program. Please review the “Student Academic Dishonesty Policy” listed below.

Group Assignments

For all group assignments each group member needs a copy of the finished product. Work received after the due date will drop a letter grade.

Exams and Quizzes

- Examinations/quizzes must be taken on the date indicated by instructor, except in the instance of an excused university absence or qualified emergency
- Exceptions due to university excused absences must be arranged prior to the scheduled examination date
- All qualified emergencies require telephone notification, initial e-mails stating you are not able to take a scheduled examination will be accepted, but personal contact is required to re-schedule examinations

ALL PAPERS ARE TO BE IN APA FORMAT:

Recreation and sport management falls under the social sciences which uses APA format. Here are some general guidelines regarding APA 7th Edition format:

- Legible and accessible font (12-point Times New Roman is best)
- Double spaced
- Title Page with a running head and page number
- Reference page using APA format for crediting sources.
- In-text citations
- Headings
- Written in third person (this is not required on all assignments in this course)

Most of your other courses will require APA format. Learning APA format will benefit you if you are continuing in the social sciences, especially SLR. Purdue Owl Writing Lab is a great resource for accurately writing and citing papers according to APA format.

ELECTRONIC DEVICES POLICY:

Unless otherwise designated by the instructor, all electronic devices are to be turned off. Cell phones are not to be answered in class. In the event of an emergency situation, please notify your instructor. Students will be dismissed from class for the day for non-compliance with this policy and will forfeit 10 participation points for the day.

How to use this syllabus

This syllabus provides students with information specific to this course, and it also provides information about respective University policies. This document should be viewed as a course overview; it is not a contract and is subject to change as the semester evolves.

ASSIGNMENT POLICIES:

1. Assignments are to be turned in at the beginning of class on the due date. Work received after the due date will be lowered one letter grade per day.
2. All assignments must be turned in on or prior to the due date. If the student is unable to attend class on the due date, arrangements must be made to have the assignment delivered to the HPER office before class time.
3. There is no penalty for turning assignments in early.
4. Students are expected to punctually attend all regularly scheduled classes. Because punctual attendance is requisite to attainment of professional preparation in Sport Leadership & Recreation Courses, 10 points will be deducted for each unexcused absence up to a maximum of 120 points. Being late for class without an approved excuse will equate to a five (5) point deduction from the students participation points. Only university or faculty excused absences will be allowed without a loss of points.
5. All written reports must adhere to the APA Writing Style Manual guidelines.
6. Plagiarized work will receive zero credit and may lead to the student's removal from the program.

Student Academic Dishonesty Policy

Academic dishonesty, a basis for disciplinary action, includes but is not limited to activities such as cheating and plagiarism (presenting as one's own the intellectual or creative accomplishments of another without giving credit to the source or sources). The faculty member in whose course or under whose tutelage an act of academic dishonesty occurs has the option of failing the student for the academic hours in question. The department chair should be advised of any action taken by the faculty member regarding academic dishonesty. The faculty member may consent to refer the case to other academic personnel for further action. Departments, schools, and colleges may have provisions for more severe penalties than are set forth above. Emporia State University may impose penalties for academic dishonesty up to and including expulsion from the university. The student has the right to appeal the charge of academic dishonesty in accordance with the university's Academic Appeals policy and procedure as set forth in section 9A-04 of the Faculty Handbook.

Academic Accommodations

Emporia State University will make reasonable accommodations for persons with documented disabilities. Students need to contact the Director of Disability Services and the professor as early in the semester as possible to ensure that classroom and academic accommodations are implemented in a timely fashion. All communication between students, the Office of Disability Services, and the professor will be strictly confidential. The Office of Disability Services and Non-Traditional Student Programs are located at Plumb Hall 106, 620/341-6637 Voice, 620/341-6646 TTY, or via e-mail disabser@emporia.edu.

Diversity and Inclusivity

Emporia State University supports an inclusive learning environment where diversity and individual differences are understood, respected, appreciated, and recognized as a source of strength. We expect that students and faculty at Emporia State will respect differences and demonstrate diligence in understanding how other people's perspectives, behaviors, and worldviews may be different from their own. If there are aspects of the design, instruction, and/or your experiences within this course that result in barriers to your inclusion or accurate assessment of achievement, please notify the unit head (Department Chair or equivalent) as soon as possible, and/or contact the office of the Assistant Dean of Students for Diversity, Equity & Inclusion.

Assumption of Risk Statement

A physical exam is not required by course involvement. However, due to the nature of the activity that involves a high level of physical stress (heart, lungs, muscles, bones, etc.) each student should have his/her physical health evaluated by a physician. The instructor assumes no responsibility for evaluating medical qualifications for class. Due to the nature of the activities included in this course, an inherent risk of injury is involved. Such injury may include, but is not limited to, sprains, strains, burns, bruises, broken bones, tissue cuts and the catastrophic. You are advised of the potential for injury and should participate in the class only after you fully understand and accept the inherent risk factor
